Ce code configure les options de cache et d'exécution pour le navigateur en mode headless avec Selenium :

Cette fonction extrait les caractéristiques spécifiques d'un produit à partir du contenu HTML d'une page web de produit en utilisant BeautifulSoup. Elle parcourt différentes sections de la page définies dans la configuration du site, et récupère des informations telles que la hauteur, la largeur, le poids, et d'autres spécifications liées au produit. Ensuite, elle normalise ces caractéristiques pour qu'elles suivent une structure commune, ce qui permet de comparer facilement les produits provenant de différents sites. La fonction renvoie un dictionnaire contenant ces caractéristiques normalisées.
